Policies and Notice of Privacy Practices

The following information is a description of services offered to clients and the policies concerning therapy. Please feel free to discuss this information or any other matter related to the services you, or your minor child, receives at any time during the course of treatment. The clinicians at Harrisonburg Center for Healing are Licensed Professional Counselors in the Commonwealth of Virginia engaged in a private group practice to provide mental health services to children, adolescents, adults, and couples.

Mental Health Services

The goal of therapy is to help a person better understand their thoughts and feelings and assist them in resolving difficulties. As professionals, we make observations and suggestions for new ways to approach problems. It is important for individuals and families to explore their own thoughts and feelings, as well as try new approaches to solving problems for positive change to occur. Other family members may be brought to a session if the person feels this would be helpful or if we make this recommendation.

Confidentiality

Mental health services are confidential, private, and personal. Written permission is required for the release of information except in situations where 1) there exists a substantial likelihood that as a result of mental illness, the person will, in the near future, cause serious physical harm to self or others; 2) a court subpoena, 3) the suspicion of child abuse or neglect, or of adult/elder abuse, neglect, or exploitation. Under routine release of information, such as to an insurance company, the minimum information is provided in an effort to protect your privacy.

Appointments

If you are more than fifteen minutes late for your appointment there is the possibility that your session may need to be rescheduled to another day.

Telehealth

When possible, sessions are complete face-to-face, but telehealth services are an option if that is not possible. If you and your therapist are unable to meet in person, telehealth services may be utilized as agreed upon by provider and client. By using telehealth, our session would be conducted over the internet using audio and video on a secured platform rather than meeting in person.

Fees

If you do not cancel your appointment by telephone at least 24 hours in advance you will be charged $90.00 for the missed appointment. You (or your legal representative) are solely responsible to pay your bill in full. Failure to pay any outstanding bill or late fees will be viewed as your termination of treatment.

Attendance in Court

If you are involved in a court case, your provider will not be able to testify. Testifying in court may harm the therapeutic relationship. Courts appoint professionals who have no prior contact with a family to conduct evaluations and make recommendations. By signing this form and consenting to treatment, you agree not to call your therapist or any representative of Harrisonburg Center for Healing as a witness in litigation.

Clients are discouraged from having their therapist subpoenaed. Even though you are responsible for the testimony fee, it does not mean that my testimony will be solely in your favor. I can only testify to the facts of the case and to my professional opinion.

Privacy and Protected Health Information

This mental health practice is required by law (The Health Insurance Portability and Privacy Act, HIPPA, 2000) to maintain the privacy of protected health information. Treatment notes will never be released without written permission of the client. Treatment notes must be made available if we have received a subpoena from a court judge. Disclosure of protected health information is permitted for the purpose of treatment, payment, and health care operations. You have the right to complain to the US Secretary of Health and Human Services (www.hhs.gov) if you believe that your privacy rights have been violated.

Consent to Treatment and Termination
